PEDDY-MAYFIELD CONTEST FILED

FRENCH GOVERNMENT PLANS TO NEGOTIATE WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 22—The French government has decided to resume negotiations with soviet Russia, according to the Echo National. The newspaper says that the cabinet ministers discussed this question at their last meeting and decided to send a mission to Russia in a month or so, although Premier Poincare opposed such a step.

There has been considerable talk about the resumption of relations between the two countries since the recent visit to Moscow of Eduardo Herriott, former minister of national subsistence and labor. The government has contended that M. Herriott's visit was entirely personal and that France was in no way bound by any negotiations undertaken by him.

M. de Chevilly, who spoke for France at The Hague conference last July, left for Moscow today. It was reported that his visit was to be in the nature of a more or less semi-official mission and that he would endeavor to ascertain whether Moscow would be disposed to accept conditions that would make a resumption of relations possible.

FOREIGN OFFICE DENIES NEGOTIATIONS PLANNED

PARIS, Feb. 22—The French foreign office this afternoon flatly denied that the cabinet had decided to reopen negotiations with soviet Russia, as asserted by the Echo National. The article was described in some political circles as an effort to embarrass the government.

TRACE MURDER OF EARLE REMINGTON TO BOOZE TRAFFIC

FIND NOTE BOOK WITH NAMES OF TWO HUNDRED CUSTOMERS.

HUNDRED GALLONS IN BASEMENT OF HOME

Wife Overhears Quarrel Over Telephone Two Nights Before Tragedy.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Federal prohibition agents today joined the police in the search for the slayers of Earle Remington, electrical engineer, shot down in his own doorway a week ago tonight.

Their entry came after a declaration by the police that the widow, Mrs. Virginia Lola Stone Remington, had told them the dead man was a "society" bootlegger and after the police had found, questioned and temporarily released a man who admitted having operated three stills for the engineer. The chief interest of the federal officials was believed to rest with the police statement that one of Remington's note books, containing 200 names and records of sales, had come into their possession.

The police questioned several men whose names appeared in the Remington note book and stated that all proved admissions of purchases of liquor from the engineer.

The officers took away ten gallons of bootleg whiskey from the basement of the Remington residence.

Remington was said also to have some bonded whiskey in his possession, and an angle of the investigation was an effort to learn whether he had had any direct dealings with rum runners operating out of Canadian and Mexican ports.

Victim Bootleggers' Wars.

Search for other persons believed to have been connected with the illicit liquor activities credited to Remington led the detectives to revise their earlier theory that he was a victim of a bootleggers' war either because he cut the price, they said, or because he bought a large quantity of synthetic bonded liquor and "paid" for it with a check upon which payment could not be made.

Mrs. Remington was said to have told the police of frequent visits to their home by strange men who made bargains for the sale and purchase of liquor with her husband, and of how his whiskey making made the house smell so strong of alcohol that she was forced to give up social activities.

"Earle had a terrible quarrel over the telephone with somebody—I suppose a man—two nights before the tragedy," she was quoted as saying.

"I so loathed his part in the liquor traffic that I tried to avoid hearing the conversation, but some of it was forced upon my ears. It was an argument over the price. I heard Earle threaten the person with whom he was talking, and no doubt the other person threatened Earle."

Mrs. Earle and I started to court about three years ago, but only months of our life together were the hardest for me. It seemed a horrible nightmare since first we's this house the rendezvous of liquor."

Mrs. Remington was too ill yesterday to attend the inquest in person.

EXPECT TO ENMESH THOUSAND IN HUGE COUNTERFEIT RING

BELIEVED TO HAVE DISTRIBUTED ONE TO TEN MILLION DOLLARS.

SIXTY-FOUR ALREADY PLACED UNDER ARREST

Arrests In Many of the Larger Cities Are Planned By Secret Service Men.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—International ramifications of the huge counterfeiting system which secret service operatives cared yesterday were indicated today when Joseph A. Talma, secret service agent in charge of the investigation, announced that 13 arrests have been made abroad.

Persons have been arrested in Egypt, Liverpool, England, Hamburg, Germany, Bavaria, Cuba, Austria, the Falkands, Naples, Italy and France as a result of clues given the police of the foreign countries by secret service agents here, Mr. Talma said.

In Naples two men and a woman were arrested with $50,000 in spurious money in their possession but one of them escaped, Mr. Talma said. The dozen others taken into custody, he said, were all traced as a result of the investigation which culminated in the arrested here of 64 persons Tuesday night.

The leaders of the band operating in the United States are under arrest, Mr. Talma said, but a number of passers of bogus money are being sought. Already, he added, about 1,000 passers have been captured in American cities and have been tried on such charges.

A direct connection between many unsolved gang murders in this city during the past two years and the counterfeiting system was indicated today when police began an independent investigation into the organization.

Several of the murders were believed to have resulted from passing of bogus money and from double crossing in the ranks of the counterfeiters, the police said. The crimes were said by investigators to have been most frequent in counterfeit circles which overlapped on liquor and drug trafficking groups.

SECRET SERVICE AGENTS CLOSING IN BIG "RING"

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Secret service men began today drawing in the strings to a mesh in which they say it will ensnare 1,000 members of the international counterfeiting ring which they have had in their grip for several days, it was learned today. The ring is believed to have printed and distributed between five and ten million dollars worth of bogus bills and securities.

Arrests all over the country, with raids centering in Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco and other big cities were forecast today by federal officers who completed last night the jailing of 64 alleged counterfeiters in the metropolitan district. Deprived of its brains, the sleuths believe the organization to be disorganized.

While secret service men in this country are tracking the gang they set upon eight months ago in the hope of the police of several countries will be hunting the members of the band which extended its operations over these countries with amazing completeness. The haunts of its principal members are known, secret service men say.

Held in the Tombs.

Twenty-five of these arrests were made in the Tombs in bail ranging from $2,500 to ten times that amount. Six were taken in Newark, N. J., also under bond.

The bills that fetched the $64,000 in the last two days—also developed large stocks of counterfeit bills, stamps, liquor permits and liquor revenue labels, besides a complete printing and engraving outfit located in Greenwich village. Seven automobiles filled with men and with shooting distance of police headquarters in Broome street.

The scene of the printing plant indicated that the detectives arrived as the trail was growing cold—discontinued had been begun.

Bootleggers Distribute.

Joseph A. Talma, chief of the secret service, said that based the conclusion, said that the chief avenue of distribution was through bootleggers and drug peddlers. Much counterfeit money was passed off on passenger cars while it swung at another last month off Highlands, N. J., the Sandy Hook, he said.

The thoroughness of the organization, Talma said, was astounding. It was divided into manufacturers, wholesalers and their agents, retailers and their agents, gun men and liaison officers who kept each department in contact.

Recent immigrants of their own blood were declared to have been the principal prey of the counterfeiters. Some of the various headquarters were conducted in Italian and Jewish quarters.

The bogus stuff was sold at from 2 to 25 cents on the dollar, the retailer getting most and the manufacturer least.

EVELAN NESBIT CASE DISMISSED BY COURT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 22.—The case against Evelyn Nesbit charged with the killing of Stanford White was dismissed today. Miss Nesbit was not in court today. Miss Nesbit's attorney said she would be married soon.

SENATE OPPONENTS SHIPPING BILL ARE HOLDING WHIP HAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—George Washington was unintentionally enlisted today in the filibuster in the senate against the administration shipping bill.

When the senate convened with a motion pending to take up the shipping measure which was displaced last night to allow adoption of conference reports on two appropriation bills, the presiding officer recognized Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, who in accordance with an order made by the senate several weeks ago proceeded to read Washington's farewell address.

Reading of the address occupied the senate for the first three-quarters of an hour and gave opponents of the ship bill an opportunity to map out their program of further obstructive tactics.

After the reading of the farewell address had been concluded Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, spoke an hour and in behalf of his wheat price stabilization bill.

Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, who took the floor after Senator Gooding, opened his speech with the declaration that he did not expect "to find time today" to complete the discussion he hoped to make. He added, however, that he intended "to go thoroughly" into each of a half dozen subjects.

When the Tennessee senator began he was the only member on the democratic side of the chamber and Senator Jones in charge of the bill, was all alone on the opposite side.

Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, broke into Senator McKellar's speech with a request for a frank statement as to whether the ship bill was to be killed by the filibuster. Senator McKellar replied that he was determined to defeat the bill by any means possible and that six Republicans were pledged to aid the Democrats in that design. He refused a request to name the half dozen republicans, telling Senator Willis that he could identify them himself with ease.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, interjected that "this filibuster" had begun with the election last November when the shipping bill was an issue.

OPPONENTS OF BILL TO CONTINUE FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Senate opponents of the administration shipping bill were prepared to carry on today for their fourth successive day of filibuster against the measure.

Although before the senate received at 9 o'clock last night the filibuster, which had been maintained for eight successive days was resumed to permit adoption of conference reports on the army and District of Columbia appropriation bills, that marked only a halt in the obstructive program. Adoption of the reports, however, for which administrative leaders were in accord in seizing the first opportunity and laying aside momentarily the shipping bill, was said to have removed the last possible excuse for an extra session after March 4.

Pending for a vote when the senate met today was a motion to lay up again the shipping bill made by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, in charge of the bill, after adoption of the conference reports last night. This motion displaced the previously pending motion to lay aside the shipping bill and take up the filled milk bill. Conceding that the administration group had enough votes to put the shipping bill back before the senate, leaders among the bill's opponents said they intended to prevent by speech making a vote on the Jones motion at least for a day or so. Then they may continue the direct filibuster against the bill itself or move to dispose of it with some other measure.

Majority leaders in the house, who were confronted today with a fifty-hour rule governing consideration of conference reports, yesterday devised primarily against the bill permitting Government purchase of the Cape Cod canal, and consumed at only one time in serious debate, they said, their legislative program for the remainder of the session. They were confident of stopping the measure today, however, by a plan to bring the Cape Cod bill up with a special rule under which it would be disposed of in a single day.

MATRIMONY BUREAU CAUSES ARREST OF WILBARGER WOMAN

Nancy Crowpoint of Quanah, Wilbarger County, Texas, was arrested Thursday by United States Deputy Marshal John Save on a warrant in which she stands charged with the offense of using the United States mail for fraudulent purposes.

The postoffice inspector of this district filed the charges several days ago and the warrant was placed in the hands of the officer Thursday morning.

The complaint charges that the offense is having devised a scheme and artifice to defraud and deprive the furtherance of said a scheme into the United States postoffice at Quanah for mailing and delivery, a certain letter addressed to Fred Brackbill at Grand Junction, Colo.

The postoffice inspector states that eight different letters of the same nature had been mailed to him and that after following the course he filed the complaint.

The officer stated that the woman used the matrimonial advertisements and was securing money under the guise of a correspondence with the writer for some length of time. Photographs were exchanged and a date was set for the wedding.

According to the Grand Jury complaint, he was asked to send sufficient funds to defray her traveling expenses to the designated meeting place. These funds, he contended, were sent but the woman never did appear.

The inspector stated that he had letters in his possession which showed that men from California and other western states as well as points in Canada had been corresponding with the same woman.

FOUR NEGROES HELD FOLLOWING BURNING OF TWO YOUNG GIRLS

ATLANTA, GA., Feb. 22.—Two men and two women negroes are held in jail here in connection with the burning to death of Willie Mae Jones, Mildred McDowell, 15 and Lydia Jones, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John M. McDowell of Decatur, the city yesterday.

Authorities brought the negroes to Atlanta for safe keeping.

The arrests followed a dramatic confession by Dorothy Nix, former cook in the McDowell home, who broke down under severe examination last night and made a statement to officers implicating her husband, Jackson Nix, his brother, Fred Nix, and several other negroes, according to officers.

Only the corpse of the two girls coupled by the two girls in the McDowell home was burned. It is believed that gasoline was used to speed up the fire and the bodies burned.

VERDICT IS EXPECTED IN CASE OF OLLIE GIBBONS

HENDERSON, KY., Feb. 22.—A verdict was expected today in the case of Ollie Gibbons, confessed slayer, charged with the murder of his house friend of Guy Neffenger, manager of the Southland Coal Company, who was killed with a miner's hammer on the night of December 31. The jury was locked up last night.

The court also was expected to decide today whether Mrs. Lottie Neffenger, the widow, under indictment as an accessory before the fact to the murder, would be tried at this term of court. Mrs. Neffenger testified yesterday that she knew of the death plot and admitted plans had been made for the defendant and herself to elope as soon as her husband's insurance had been collected.

ACTUAL MANEUVERS IN WARFARE AGAINST BOLL WEEVIL BEGINS

PERFECT NATIONWIDE ORGANIZATION TO EXTERMINATE PEST.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED AS INDEPENDENT MOVEMENT

Has Pledges Of Support From Federal, State and Private Agencies.

ATLANTA, GA., Feb. 22.—Actual maneuvers in the warfare of extermination declared for the cotton growers throughout the country by the cotton boll weevil have begun in earnest with the perfection of a nationwide organization to act in the extermination of the pest.

The organization was completed at the last session of the national cotton congress held in Atlanta last November. It has been in the course of perfection since the congress in Atlanta state and private agencies.

The campaign was launched as an independent movement, incorporated under the laws of Tennessee, having among its members representatives of all branches in the cotton industry.

Dr. Miller Reese Hutchison, of New York, president of the campaign, is president of the organization.

Educational and research work in connection with the establishment of governmental and independent agencies is included in order the direction of a board of directors as provided for in the plan. The corporation will accept a percentage of the profits of the campaign, Mr. Hutchison said.

Hutchison and associates have made arrangements with the state officials of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and Tennessee for the organization of the campaign in these states. The governors of Arkansas, Alabama and Mississippi have signed their approval of the campaign.

The committee is working out a plan for the promotion of a [illegible] in the cotton states [illegible] by the most [illegible] ever [illegible] against the boll weevil.

Hudson Maxim is to address the convention, it is learned, in the morning session on "Mars or Bug—Which Shall Inherit the Earth?" He stressed the seriousness to the community of the earth by insect pests, and advanced the theory that the weevil could be attracted to poison by the sweet of sugar.

NEUTRALS WILL BE MADE TO FEEL PINCH OF RUHR OCCUPATION

STEPS TO THIS END ARE BEING TAKEN BY GERMAN OFFICIALS

CANCEL COAL CONTRACTS WITH NEUTRAL NATIONS

Less Coal Will Be Mined and Unemployment Will Be Increased.

(By The Associated Press.)

ESSEN, Feb. 22.—Efforts to make the effect of the occupation of the Ruhr felt in neutral countries have been taken by German officials as part of the passive resistance program according to information in the hands of the Associated Press. At a meeting in Bochum attended by national and local officials of the Ruhr district it was decided to cancel all coal contracts with Holland, Switzerland and other neutral countries, it is stated.

The mining officials agreed that they would supply only the local needs of the Ruhr district hereafter. This means that much less coal will be mined and unemployment increased.

The activity of the security police against the French and Belgians is increasing. The French it appears are determined to put them out of commission and have ordered the dissolution of the organization which is composed of former non-commissioned officers in the imperial army. Dr. Gruetzner, president of the district, expelled last week has established new headquarters at Elberfeld and has ordered the members of the force to stick to their posts and disregard the French orders.

Most of the security police of whom there are about 10,000 in the Ruhr have been disarmed however, and many have doffed their uniforms.

Cases of sabotage chiefly along the telephone and telegraph lines are continually to hinder communication by the French and Belgians. The soldier guards have been ordered to shoot on sight any individual caught cutting wires or otherwise committing sabotage.

One hundred and forty-four German railroad workers were engaged yesterday by the French authorities at an employment bureau in Duesseldorf. These men will be employed by the French in operating the Ruhr railroads. They will lose their strike pay offered by the Berlin government which is still being paid the strikers in the Ruhr.

SELF RELIANCE AND SELF CONTROL ARE IDEAL OF AMERICA

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 22.—The ideal of America is the building up of self reliance and self-control among its citizens, Vice President Coolidge said today at a Lincoln service here in observance of Washington's birthday. Under the American system of government, he declared, we should remain a living organism sustaining hope and progress, content to extend its domain not by conquest but by service.

"It cannot be denied," he said, "that there are dangerous tendencies. The fact that one great empire broke down is not to be ignored. But self-government did not break down."

Great strides forward in civilization usually come from the masses, he said. He declared that this always was recognized by George Washington.

For the most part the wealth and aristocracy of the colonies did not follow Washington in his struggle. "But the support of the common man came from the farm and from men of the town meeting."

The example of Washington will never be outgrown for the wisdom of the principles which he advocated and established does not change. He was a great exponent of the moral force of the world of his time.

It is because of his increasing power to inspire and lead that we still speak of him while of others of his time. It is well that it still inspires the school, the editorial man and the public.

FORMER MINISTER FOREIGN AFFAIRS FOR FRANCE DIES

PARIS, Feb. 22.—Theophile Delcasse former minister of foreign affairs, died suddenly at 9 tonight this evening.

He left his hotel during the day to convey his sympathy to Minister of Marine Raiberti on the occasion of the death of his father.

After this visit M. Delcasse appeared in good health. He returned to the hotel where he had a meeting of friends. Minutes later he died suddenly in the presence of the friends.

Delcasse's ministry lasted however little more than one year, October 1911 to January of the following year. He was forced out of the foreign affairs portfolio as a result of criticism directed against him because of his conversation with Baron Von Lucius, German ambassador to France, in which he discussed the Moroccan question with the Baron.

French and British opinion was at that time strongly in favor of the action of Delcasse which finally culminated in the Russian-Japanese war. The Delcasse policy was adopted and he was forced out of office because of the outburst against him. Delcasse has not been in the cabinet since, having been the one who could have foreseen and averted the German move to the southeast.

RESOLUTION TO ASK MAYFIELD TO SPEAK IS HELD UP

AUSTIN, Feb. 22.—Threats of a fight against adoption of a resolution inviting United States Senator-elect Earle B. Mayfield to address the house before his departure for Washington, have caused Representative Gilpson of Wichita Falls to hold up his resolution which was prepared late last week, and has been signed by many house members.

Friends of the senator-elect feared that a debate would be caused on the floor which would cause unnecessary dissention. Mr. Mayfield is also said to have asked that the resolution not be introduced.

A substitute inviting the imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan to address the house was ready to be presented if the Mayfield invitation resolution had been introduced, it is reported.

[illegible]

Do I Need More Vitamines ????

Many a man should ask himself seriously this question. And there is but one answer if you find yourself tiring easily; if your nerves are wearing you down to a thin edge, if you are losing weight.

Do you have as much strength and fighting spirit as you would like? As much as you had ten years ago? For conditions like these don't drug yourself with stimulants that bring only temporary relief. Try the natural method of building strength and restoring health by taking more vitamines into your system. Plenty of vitamines will keep you up to the mark all the time. You must find a way to make up the loss of these life-giving elements that are destroyed in our modern methods of cooking and preparing food.

To ward off disease and to enable you to fight colds, flu, pneumonia, and other death-dealing afflictions, plenty of vitamines as supplied in Ironized Yeast will give you strength and power of resistance. These troubles will pass you by if you are well and filled with the wonderful strength that the use of Ironized Yeast gives.

Know the Truth

Hundreds of thousands of persons have been fooled into taking worthless yeast tablets and other preparations that did not contain sufficient vitamines to establish that wonderful health that can come only from a perfectly balanced vitamine diet. Many have even concluded that vitamines cannot help them or bring them the strength and recovery they seek.

The great question then is how to assure the body a plentiful supply of vitamines. The danger lies not in consuming too many, on the contrary disease and weakness come when we are not taking enough. But where are the vitamines to be found?

A Way Has Been Found

Realizing that the public has been victimized by worthless preparations said to contain vitamines, this is to tell you of a product known as Ironized Yeast, the vitamine strength of which is legally certified, thereby insuring users against fraud and misrepresentation.

Sickly persons who are underweight and feel tired out and run-down show the quickest response to the Ironized Yeast Vitamine treatment. This is because they are victims of vitamine starvation and have been getting practically none of these life-giving elements from the food they eat.

Get Ironized Yeast from your druggist today. A ten-day treatment costs only $1.00. It is guaranteed to give satisfying results or your money will be cheerfully refunded. The Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Scientists Say

Leading chemists and medical journals have united in endorsing these essentials of health—VITAMINES—as conspicuously embodied in Ironized Yeast.

Journal American Medical Association: "Must be considered one of the greatest contributions to medical science—."

E. V. McCollum, Ph. D., and Nina Simmonds, M. A., of Johns Hopkins University say: "There is no discovery in the field of physiology and medicine which rests on a firmer experimental basis—."

Dr. Casimir Funk, formerly of London Cancer Hospital Research Institute, associate in Biological Chemistry, College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, speaking of yeast, this world renowned Chemist who first suspected the existence of vitamines and gave them their name, says: "Of all natural products, it seems to be the one most rich in vitamine B and therefore is worthy of special attention."

Dr. Atherton Seidell, of the Hygienic Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service, former President of the Chemical Society of Washington, says in a paper published by the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry: "... brewer's yeast ... used to greatest extent as a source of vitamine."

Certified Vitamine Strength

Personally appeared before me J. G. Dodson, President of the Ironized Yeast Company, who on oath says that each Ironized Yeast tablet which bears the letters "I. Y." as a distinguishing mark is compounded of yeast imported from Bass' Ale Brewery, Burton on Trent, England, and is concentrated by the process recommended by Dr. A. Seidell, of the Hygienic Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service and former President of the Chemical Society of Washington, and when taken according to direction for the adult, you get the equivalent in vitamine strength of nine average yeast cakes a day.

Yeast from Bass' Ale

To make a product presenting the utmost of vitamine content yeast from the famous Bass' Ale Brewery, England, is now imported into this country and is concentrated under the process recommended by Dr. A. Seidell, of the Hygienic Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service. This concentrated brewer's yeast forms a part of that guaranteed and certified Vitamine product known as Ironized Yeast.

Campfire Girls Plan Big Reception For S. M. U. Choral Club Saturday

The Wichita Falls Campfire Girls have made big plans for the reception of the Southern Methodist University Choral Club girls here Saturday morning, when they arrive to fill their evening engagement at the Lyceum theatre.

There will be several Campfire demonstration window displays during the morning, and at noon a parade will form, with the first grade bearing the singing groups of the organization, with their ukeleles and other musical instruments, and the second, the girls demonstrating the complete handicraft. Campfire girls in every camp in the city led by the Campfire council, will follow on foot, with the boys of the Wichita Falls De Molay bringing up the rear. The marchers will go to the depot to meet the Choral club girls upon their right in number, with their hostesses and accompanists and members of the S. M. U. mandolin club, and will escort them to the church to register. From there they will be taken to the various homes in town where they are to be entertained.

In the evening the boys of the De Molay will escort them to the Palace theatre for the evening's entertainment, and afterward to the First M. E. Church, south, where they will be complimented with a reception.

Professor and Mrs. Todd of the University are chaperoning the Choral Club girls, and six members of the Mandolin Club and two violinists will go with them to assist on the program.

The Campfire Girls, who are sponsoring the affair, expect to use the funds above expenses for their summer camp at Crisfield Park, coming June, and have been selling coupon tickets to the entertainment the past several days. The coupons can be exchanged for reserved seat checks at Tipton's drug store Friday and Saturday.

TUESDAY COLLEGE WOMEN DISCUSS SHAVIAN CREED AS SET FORTH IN NOVEL

The Tuesday College Women's meeting at the Lucille Hamilton's Specialty shop on North street Tuesday evening, held a lively and interesting discussion of the Shavian philosophy as disclosed in Shaw's "Man and Superman," following the reading of the novel.

Mrs. Ethel Grill read a discussion of the Shavian Creed of Life Force, Cosmic Life Purpose of Life Force," and Mrs. Sidney Cochran discussed Shaw's Conclusion on Life in Man and Superman." Mrs. Griffith summarized the Shavian philosophy very concisely in her paper, referring to the writer's belief that man, up to the present, has failed to progress because his progress has been based solely on education, and that the man of the future—the superman—must be bred, not taught. Mrs. Cochran drew attention to the fact that the novel embodies the tenets of the Shavian creed, instinct of life force, individualism and reality. She observed, through the argument of Tanner, who is willing to sacrifice everything else for his art instinct, and through the attitude of Ann, who subordinates every other interest to her mating and maternal instincts that Shaw preaches his doctrine of individualism. Then, in the dream episode of the play, she shows that the dramatist composes as of all our illusions, for he firmly believes that sooner or later we must face reality."

The members present included Mesdames [illegible] and Mathis and Misses [illegible] Hedgecoxe, Hampton, Barlow and Heaverhill.

Are Your Children Bright? Ask The Neighbors, Advises Expert

By NEA Service.

LOSTON, Feb. 22.—There are mentality tests—

And precedent-established rules for determining—

But if you really want to know how bright your children are—

Ask the neighbors.

That's the best test, says Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the Journal of Education and an expert on mental ability.

"There is no other simple rule for gauging the mentality of children, and parents never should attempt it," Dr. Winship declares. "They are not in a position to do so. They should leave that to experts."

One of the commonest of parents' errors is mistaking mere imitativeness for brightness according to Dr. Winship. "Parroting" words isn't an indication of superior intelligence, he says.

"At the entrance to one of the colleges of Oxford University there is this inscription

"'He who reads and reads and does not what he knows.

"'He he who plows and plows and never sows.'

"Every father and mother should remember this, and strive to have his child learn to learn rather than have him learn to know.

"With the rapidity of modern advancement, the right child must be able to think, to apply the processes of reasoning. Merely knowing is not enough."

AMERICANIZATION DAY FOR PHILADELPHIANS

The Phila Delphians observed "Americanization Day," according to the recommendation of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, with a splendid patriotic program at their Wednesday meeting, when Mrs. Earl Jamieson was hostess to the club.

Mrs. James Berry opened the afternoon's program with the reading of a lesson on "The Political Events Causing the Formation of the Colonies Into a Nation," from Gertrude Atherton's "The Conqueror." Before going into the lesson, however, Mrs. Berry gave a colorful sketch of the life and works of the writer. Mrs. A. C. Dailey discussed the political situation of the colonies before the revolution, and Mrs. A. C. Parks discussed that period in the life of the colonies immediately after the revolution and before the adoption of the constitution. Mrs. Berney molded interest to this with the financial situation of the colonies, and Mrs. C. M. Richardson pictured Washington and his cabinet in an interesting sketch.

Following the lesson the hostess invited the members to remain for a social half hour, during which she served a delightful two course luncheon to the following: Mesdames J. C. Crane, G. T. Drinkard, Allen Duncan, A. C. Parks, Otis Gerstine, Frank Hoover, J. E. H. Bailey, C. M. Richardson, Ernest Westmoreland, J. C. Berney, John Prewett, A. C. Dulaney, and Miss Clara Schultz and Mrs. T. A. Dradley, a guest.

At present there are more than a million different patterns in the shoe line and a standardization of these will greatly reduce the hazards of the retail shoe business. President Slater of the National Association, himself a retailer, stated that he expects to work to this end during his administration, Mr. Sanderford said.

Washington's Platonic Love For Friend's Wife Throws New Light on Character

By JACK JUNGMEYER
NEA Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1923, NEA Service)

LOS ANGELES Feb 22 — For over two centuries the romance that powerfully swayed the character and destiny of George Washington has remained obscure under his heroic achievements as founder of the nation

E E PRUSSING

The gist of this love story revealing the deepest traits of the greatest man of his time was told today by Eugene E Prussing retired member of the Chicago bar and noted authority on Washington

Sally Cary Fairfax young wife of Washington's close friend, was the first to plumb the heart of the man who became first in the hearts of his countrymen as Prussing reconstructs the romance from documentary fragments collected in eight years of intensive research

"We have he said no convincing published evidence of Washington's interest in any other woman from the time he was 17 until he married Martha Custis at 27 although these are the susceptible years of any man's life

"The story of his affection for Sally Cary Fairfax is the true one It is attested by his own letters of that time and is confirmed by one he wrote 40 years later to the object of his renounced love

When the following can be published it will add greatly to Washington's reputation as a man

As a young frontier surveyor Washington went to live for a time with the Fairfaxes at Belvoir George William Fairfax his companion on many trails was 22, his wife 18, and a toasted belle of the colony

Mrs Fairfax spurred Washington's interest in literature and history and prodded his ambition Through this propinquity to a gracious woman Washington quickly developed a mute hopeless affection as his letters indicate—only to be unconscious in writing to her of it and loneliness in the eve of a military campaign

Then came his renunciation and his marriage to the widow of Daniel Parke Custis and 40 years of happy wedded life

The two families lived in full neighborliness for 14 years when the Fairfaxes removed to England And once more in mellowed sentiment far down the sunset years Washington adverts in a letter to Sally Fairfax to the time when young hearts raced beside the Potomac

"At all times" said Prussing "Washington's devotion was without reproach The story of it gives testimony of the sound manliness of an ardent nature to match his mental greatness

The point of the whole episode is that while Sally Fairfax rocked his heart and held him enthralled for 40 years she did not upset his character

Reconstructing George Washington's personality and activities by inspecting records in 40 counties in seven states Prussing presents an entirely new picture of him in his forthcoming volume The Estate of George Washington Deceased"

The story of Washington's love and faithfulness said Prussing "as well as the story of his business affairs will appeal powerfully to the free thinking generation to whom the real flesh and blood Washington as a gentleman without peer is practically unknown

George Washington—and his platonic love affair with Mrs. Fairfax, as told by Eugene Prussing, foremost authority on "The Father of His Country"

GEORGE WASHINGTON WARNS FLAPPERS THEY'LL DIE OLD MAIDS

MOUNT VERNON Va Feb 22.— George Washington was interviewed today by NEA Service for The Times on many subjects ranging from flappers to the League of Nations

"What do you think will become of the flapper" he was asked on this the one hundred and ninety first anniversary of his birth

"It would be a great departure from the truth" he answered with careful consideration "to say that it rarely happens otherwise than that a headstrong girl pays dearly for her attempts to assert independence of judgment for her attempts to assert independence of judgment Nature seems to have ordained that the purpose than to draw men to her side she repels them by her unbecoming conduct"

But was Sally Fairfax a flapper he was pressed

"Well would you call a girl a flapper who was proud" he replied "Sally Fairfax was an object of admiration of the gallants of her time but she was too proud to be coy and too virtuous to be a coquette Love may and therefore ought to be under the guidance of reason" (Same letter as above)

Do you advocate early marriage for flappers

Youth inexperience and unripened education he replied thoughtfully are and will be insurmountable obstacles in my opinion to marriage (Letter to Benedict Calvert April 9 1793)

Still striking to flapperism what do you think of bobbed hair and short skirts? the interviewer pressed

His gesture indicated his opposition

And Mrs Washington's wish? he was asked

He referred to his use of force of arms in 1794 to put down the Whiskey Rebellion and added "If the laws are to be so trampled upon with impunity and a minority is to dictate to the majority there is an end put to republican government" (Letter to Charles Mynn Thruston Aug 10 1794)

Washington admitted liking a glass of beer or Madeira wine but "Rum" he declared "is the bane of morals and the parent of idleness" (Letter to Comte de Moustier Dec 1 1788)

General do you believe in the League of Nations—

The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is in extending our commercial relations to have with them as little political connection as possible (Farewell address Sept 17 1796)

About world disarmament— it was suggested

"To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace A free people ought not only to be armed but disciplined (Speech to Congress Jan 8 1790)

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Then beware lest thou forget the Lord, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.—Deut 6 12.

If gratitude is due from children to their earthly parents, how much more is the gratitude of the great family due to our Father in heaven.—Hosea Ballou

YOUR TROUBLES.

Life is easier to understand and less difficult to handle if we perceive the truth that there is a purpose behind everything

For instance you make a mistake and pay the penalty The chances are you'll realize later on that the mistake was sent to help you avoid a greater mistake

Take a reckless auto driver, defying the fates and by his carelessness endangering his life and others He has a narrow escape or a small smashup Unless he is inclined to be feeble minded the incident sobers him makes him more careful This probably prevents a big accident later

Or take a man drinking himself to death He wakes up in jail, his memory a blank A great fear seizes him. What is he locked up for? Murder? A great sigh of relief when he learns that all he did while drunk was get into a brawl without casualties Chances are this drunkard—if drink hasn't entirely destroyed his common sense—will become an abstainer Again the small trouble prevents him from big trouble later

After all maybe it's a good thing that Europe is in hot water, with more troubles than it can handle A year or so of this and it will gradually percolate through European skulls that war does not pay that it is a terrific mistake

Progress you know is born in pain

On the other hand if Europe could suddenly be restored to normal and its path strewn with roses the European would say Why shucks that last war wasn't such a mess to get out of after all Come on let's have another round

Europe is suffering from cause and effect—from the law of action and reaction You can put on shock absorbers But you cannot entirely eliminate the reaction

We pay the full price for everything we do in this world and for everything we get out of life It may not work out that way in some of our activities but it does on the law of averages

One man may seem to have the knack of getting money too easily but somewhere in his life the system is evening things up Strike an average and we're all in much the same boat getting about the same out of life

Of course it depends on individual reaction to life on our sensitiveness for responding to joy or trouble What may be a tragedy to one person isn't a thrill to beans to another And one of us can get infinite joy from something that would bore others

Troubles and mistakes are sent to develop our characters to bring out our hidden powers and to make us appreciate the good things when they come Everything gets monotonous when there's no contrast

THE MEN WHO CARRY THE LOAD

A state senator up in Kansas has introduced a joint resolution in the legislature of that state to provide a pension of ten dollars a month to every farmer in the state for the purpose of stimulating agriculture The resolution was apparently introduced in good faith

Of course it is hard to believe that such a resolution will get any where even in Kansas which has claimed the honor of the birthplace of a good many so-called progressive movements But there is no denying the fact there has been a trend, both in our state and national governments toward paternalism Pensions and bonuses and bounties and subsidies and government aid in this and that are things that we hear a great deal about nowadays and an ever increasing number of citizens and business men ask and expect to receive them Our government is going into all sorts of enterprises now always to give aid The consequence is that our government is becoming more centralized the people are losing the initiative that local self government and individual enterprise takes and our taxes are mounting higher and higher

Some week it will get worse until the hordes of those who received public bounty grow so great that corruption would undermine the structure of the empire would not support the so-called taught us by history

Down at the bottom of it men who work in field and mine and factory and those who work with these men in the management of industry and the capital for these enterprises, must bear the burden of a paternalistic government Kansas farmer ought to be the last man to want to add to his own burden.

Turks have made marriage compulsory Another authority

Gamst says he married twice [illegible] We agree.

PRICE ADVANCES IN PROSPECT

The price of steel is going up

Cotton and cotton goods are already high

A Kansas City agricultural expert predicts that corn will sell for a dollar a bushel next fall and that the price of wheat will advance

If steel and cotton and wheat and corn advance in price we can expect a general advance practically all down the line Indeed merchants tell us that such an advance is already under way

When prices advance there is generally great activity that is up to a certain point and that point is when the public quits buying That is what happened in 1920 The fly in the ointment in the present outlook is that the advance won't have far to go until it reaches the point where the buyers struck in 1920 There is one thing that will likely keep it from going so far and that is that merchants and bankers have learned a lesson from the inflation and deflation and will be more cautious about buying stocks and giving credit for such purchases than they were two and three years ago.

SUCCESS TO THIS MAN

A dispatch a few days ago told of monthly remittances received by a western company from some unknown man who had, for a period of five years, been making regular payments upon a defalcation of years before The place from which the remittances were sent had been changed several times indicating that the man had changed jobs but he carries on with his work of restitution just the same

One could not read the dispatch without his heart warming toward this unknown man who had put his feet to the treadmill to travel the road of regeneration through restitution What a peace must have come to this defaulter when he set his feet in this path and what a victory he will have won when he has made good the last dollar

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IT'S WHAT YOU FEEL

It isn't the thing that you do that counts most, but what you feel as you do it

Your sincerity of heart will tell all about you In the office where you work you will stand apart as a worker If you write people will feel as you have felt If you speak, your words will lodge and stay to uplift and inspire If you paint, the very picture itself will live and breathe anew in the eye of everyone that looks upon it

It's what you feel in expression that is imperishable

I looked upon a beautiful Remembrandt today So warm were its colors so rich its form that Remembrandt stood alive before me

There is one thing that cannot be disguised and that is your feeling It is the realest thing about anyone

The books the paintings the buildings—no matter what—that were wrought in sincerity of spirit are those which live and which in their turn, have inspired all mankind

Your friend that you love regardless of any fault is of great worth to you because you know that honest feeling controls his life You know that he is dependable

It is impossible to do anything of a lasting nature that is not sincere with feeling behind it

Remember it is what you feel that is going to make you great—or happy

Broad Sweep of Legislative Proposals.

Denison Herald Since the present legislative session began approximately one thousand bills have been introduced and referred to proper committees To the thoughtful man this number of proposals to enact new laws or change existing statutes may seem out of all proportion And when we examine the law books and take stock of the vast number of laws we now have for the government of man as well as for the regulation and control of property rights it would seem that every phase of human endeavor has been covered and that no occasion exists for new legislation or for any radical changes to be made in laws now in force However with each biennial session of the lawmaking body we have practically the same number of propositions coming in a way into the legislative hopper before the session is well spent It is difficult to understand sometimes how the mind of the average lawmaker manages to think up the varied subjects which, in his judgment calls for legislative action And were it left to the lawmaker alone it is reasonably certain that the number of propositions would easily be reduced one-half Which is to say that not all of the bills proposed represent the original thought of the members The fact is that while our legislative body is supposed to be composed of two branches in reality it is composed of three—one sometimes referred to as the third house This branch which has become quite distinctive and exercises much influence is that portion of the lawmaking power which sits in the galleries and conducts its campaign from that vantage point It is the all-powerful lobby with its presence in both state and national legislative halls, that is doing more to load the statute books with unnecessary and oftentimes unreasonable laws than the members themselves would be able to think of in a decade The special interests therefore, are responsible for the floodtide of legislative proposals that first and last encumber the calendar at every session Each organization or individual if a selfish purpose is to be promoted hikes to Austin or to Washington with little regard to the burden they are putting on the taxpayers Very seldom but it would be a physical impossibility for the members to draft the measures themselves and the number introduced would be cut at least one half And after the measure has been read and referred to the real work of the interest to be affected begins He attends the committee meeting and submits argument in support of the proposition And if it comes out with a favorable report it is followed up by personal work with the membership until it is voted on and goes to the governor Obviously it is impossible for members to study and digest all the bills introduced But it would be physically impossible for them to do so It is only the important that gets attention and sometimes not all of these receive attention But how much better would it be for the state if only such propositions as the members themselves prepared figured in the proceedings if there were some way by which special interests could be barred or prohibited from seeking favors at the hands of lawmakers the business of the session could be less and the expense half the time and the state saved an unnecessary expense There never will be a time more or less alarmed at the number of bills offered but can get excited on from the words of the past session that it was an effort of the lawmaker of proposals ever reaching a final passage and becoming a law of the land before the people have a chance to see what they are asked to pay in the future

[illegible] Wednesday)

"Dan!" she cried, my riding [illegible]

[illegible] stood a little way [illegible] given [illegible]

[illegible] too [illegible] was [illegible] There was [illegible] of all the [illegible] nothing to serve her [illegible]

[illegible] Val Hannon lose for a moment [illegible] and sanity and all [illegible] that had stood by her in [illegible] despoiled—the posse [illegible] stirrups to [illegible]

He had [illegible] joy and gladness [illegible] spring to life in every working [illegible] in the rising hum of the drumming feet in the sting of the keening wind that was beginning to fill her cheeks For the Redstar lay down to earth once more—and ran—[illegible]

But when in the end was Val [illegible] tried? Had he let [illegible] Could she [illegible] the greater distance? Only Redstar could answer that with her heart but [illegible] listened [illegible] that note of [illegible] pred constantly [illegible] ing

Far off to her left she saw [illegible] shapes—and they were riding in [illegible] direction—all were [illegible] toward that ambushed pass

Slouched forward along his neck—and began the greatest ride she would ever know.

[illegible] up from Refugio in the southern center of the nightly small [illegible] Velatrie must be riding on the comet! At last after all these years The Comet and The Meteor were thundering down the last [illegible] common goal Was there anything in all the rangeland that could come near them in their pride and their [illegible] durance and their wondrous speed Nothing save a [illegible] except that [illegible] gaunly raw [illegible] horse [illegible] this [illegible] and that in the narrowing [illegible] giving its best to no avail but averting the hand of destiny as long as possible Tragedy rode at the raw bone's tail and combed as well for the Black Princess swift and [illegible] clung to her thief's side and would not be beaten back

The [illegible] drew in [illegible] Redstar [illegible] the nights

With the first tears welling to her [illegible] eyes she leaned down and [illegible] her caressing hands along his [illegible]

[illegible] called [illegible] again it came [illegible] "Dad! Dad in Heaven" said Val Hannon

She held her breath Along the [illegible] there came a second—a sound [illegible] all the weary months [illegible] with a faith that could [illegible] long roll of the [illegible] there was no [illegible]

[illegible] Redstar the king came back to [illegible] time in strength and joy [illegible] wind and waters flowing [illegible] behind him the wailing [illegible] slipping miles and fire [illegible] ranchers at the pass who had [illegible] riderless horse shoot by them like a [illegible]

The girl at the patio edge leaned forward straining her eyes to the [illegible] Up along the open way [illegible] marvelous sight! [illegible] running like the wind his [illegible] blur beneath him the [illegible] flying back [illegible] the king the king—[illegible] Fairlie

[illegible] Redstar the king [illegible] and [illegible] stretched his eager [illegible] her over from head [illegible] sniffed at her hair nibbled [illegible] shoulder and [illegible] flutter [illegible] hair He was home again after weary miles and this was his beloved His [illegible] by sight and the truer proof [illegible] and he was [illegible] with joy The whinnying [illegible] in his throat he [illegible] nudge the girl who clung against his breast

[illegible] came running with [illegible] skirt—old Juana was [illegible] from getting back [illegible]

[illegible] Redstar the king was under [illegible] last Redstar the nights

With the first tears welling to her [illegible] eyes she leaned down and [illegible] her caressing hands along his [illegible]

[illegible] "Oh [illegible] Don Quixote [illegible] reckless [illegible] of the [illegible] champion [illegible] poor

As he rode [illegible] thought of many things and these thoughts [illegible] sweet [illegible] that [illegible] that [illegible] and he could carry a richer gift to show than that black revenge he had sought so long—the holy gift of sacrifice

At the pass three more men had joined the ambuscade—men from the Living X

They neared along the cliffs—from [illegible] south To the two riders sweeping eastward in the centre the wall of the cliffs rose dark against the moon So in the long black arm of that ghastly gallows tree that crag Oak would stand grotesque against the moon The girl's [illegible] in her breast and she [illegible] the stallion's neck It was scarcely dim

She became conscious of a rider on her right [illegible] straight toward the pass [illegible] her eyes and her [illegible] behind she could hear the [illegible] roll of running horses—drawing in—drawing in

[illegible] the cliff was [illegible] The black [illegible] out a narrow [illegible] in the face of the wall

[illegible] great horse at her right [illegible] in toward her, narrowing the distance between Oh, why did not the rider look at her? [illegible] that it was a woman [illegible] the highest trial

But Valentine did not turn He was thinking his last sweet thoughts—telling her farewell in the last few [illegible] that he could call his own—for there were riders showing now on every hand

18TH ANNIVERSARY OF ROTARY CLUBS IS OBSERVED HERE

The 18th anniversary of the founding of the first Rotary club was celebrated at the weekly luncheon of the local club at the Hotel Thursday. Addresses by Judge T. A. Martin and by T. B. Brooks featured.

Announcement was made by G. W. Pratt chairman of the safety campaign committee of the club of plans for some special activities starting March 1. The nature of the campaign was not disclosed but it will deal with courtesy cutting corners slowing down at crossings observance of the right hand right of way rule and signaling in the order named.

It was hinted that some unique plans for impressing these points on the auto driving public are being formulated.

T. H. Roberts chairman of the program council in a brief report, told of the organization of a large number of additional troops here and of excellent progress in scout work. He renewed the appeal for more men to act as troop leaders.

Judge Martin one of a number of former Rotarians attending as guests denied that he was an ex Rotarian saying that any one who had ever become a real Rotarian continued to be one after his affiliation with the club ceased. Judge Martin praised those principles of Rotary that make for equality for tolerance and better understanding between man and man and declared the times demand support of such principles.

Tom Smoke gave some of the early history of the local club and called the roll of charter members who are still in the organization.

The list included: W. M. Tritle, B. Smoot, George Kell, Bert Fear, Lee Clark, Chas. Hagelstein, Morris Marcus, T. H. Roberts, J. Driver, Q. Lee, John Thomas, R. Hartsook, Lee C. Martin, H. B. Hanks, J. M. Mehall, H. H. Jay, M. A. Bond, T. H. Trieb, John W. Bradley, J. Dexter, O. Building, Ed. Scharff, D. Cavenaugh.

Mr. Smoke gave that reference to the fact that the club had always been hard to please in the matter of its meals and that it had moved around from one place to another finally getting such a reputation that no restaurant wanted to serve it.

Three Thousand Ermine Tails In Gown of Actress

Three thousand ermine were required to make a new gown for Gloria Swanson to be worn in a scene in "My American Wife," her newest Paramount picture. Only the tails of the animals were used in this new style creation which is an entirely original idea and a unique innovation in dress. Each ermine tail in this new evening gown is strung on seed pearls and hung on orchid net to keep the body line slender. The pearl necklace is in a knot and falling to the floor adds a long line for the front of the gown. The new hip girdle is the only line that breaks the dress from the shoulders to the floor thus breaking the monotony of the ermine tails.

Miss Swanson was so delighted with the new creation that after showing it in her work in the picture she purchased it for her own personal wardrobe. The gown is valued at $2,000.

The star wears another costume in My American Wife that is as striking and exceedingly beautiful as the ermine gown. It is worn in a dramatic interlude. Also she has taken the curl out of her hair and leaves it perfectly straight in dressing it in the various styles.

This new picture, My American Wife, is scheduled for a run in the Arcadia theatre [illegible] starring date will be set to be set exclusively for natives. With supporting cast are Antonio Moreno, Walter Long and Josef Swickard. The picture plays a three day run beginning at the Olympic theater Thursday.

Debt Settlement Agreement Before President Harding

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The last action necessary to congressional approval of the British debt settlement agreement was taken today by the house which without a roll call accepted senate changes to the bill amending the allied debt funding act.

The measure goes to the president and upon his signature the agreement between the United States and Great Britain worked out by the American and British delegations will come into force having been approved by the British cabinet.

Under the terms of the arrangement Great Britain will have sixty-two years in which to liquidate its war debt of $4,600,000,000 and will pay interest at the rate of three per cent for the first 10 years and 3 1-2 per cent thereafter.

Under the senate changes given house approval today agreements negotiated by the commission with the other debtor nations also will be subject to congressional approval. In addition the commission will be enlarged to eight members, three of them democrats.

COYOTE QUINT FACES HARD BATTLE WITH HARROLD'S TEAM

MEET THURSDAY NIGHT FOR FIRST OF THREE GAMES TO DECIDE BI-DISTRICT HONORS

Harrold's basketball team, which has mopped up on everything in its district, will endeavor Thursday night, to demonstrate its right to represent Northwest Texas at the interscholastic tournament at Austin. It will meet the Coyotes here at Legion Hall in the first of the games, the best two of which will decide.

The Coyotes realize they have a hard contest ahead, and will be prepared to do their best. Harrold earlier in the season, demonstrated its superiority over Iowa Park, which in turn had defeated the Coyotes, but that will avail the Wilbarger boys nothing, the Coyotes say.

Some of the Coyotes are on the sick list, handicapping the team to some extent.

The game will start at 8 o'clock. The high school management is hopeful of a big crowd, so that some funds for the support of the team may be realized.

Berger, New Infielder Has Good Record

Joe Berger, who hails from the Wichita, Kansas, team in the Western League and one of the leading shortstops in the loop is an Walter Salm's rooster for the coming season. Wichita finished in third place last season and Berger was one of the mainsteays in keeping them in the first division.

He finished the season with a batting average of .301 and a fielding average of .935.

He played in 150 games and was credited with 684 times at bat, getting 318 base swatsin including 73 two-base blows, eight three bagsats and six home runs. He also had 21 stolen bases and 27 sacrifice hits to his credit.

In the field he has a record of 368 putouts, 520 assistants and 57 errors. He ranked fourth in the league average for shortstops.

BASKET BALL TEAM AND SCHOOL BOARD REVIEW YEAR'S WORK

PETROLIA, TEXAS, Feb. 22.—A get-together meeting of the school trustees and the high school basketball team was held at the home of Superintendent J. P. Williams Tuesday evening in the form of an oyster supper. Short talks were made by Howard M. Noles and members of the school board. Mr. Noles reviewed the accomplishments of the past season both in the light of athletic achievements and the building of morale which was in evidence throughout the season by the clean playing of the team. He pointed out that the primary object of school athletics is to build men and not to build glory to the players.

Those present were: Trustees, Fairy Weeb, L. M. Harbin, J. W. Ross, J. W. Johnson, P. D. Posey, H. W. Perkins, and basket ball players, Albert Noles, Sam Robertson, Elbert Perlman, Alvin Maby and Eugene Cox and Curtis Noles.

Title of Home Run King Means Little To Rogers Hornsby

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22.—Rogers Hornsby, star slugger of the St. Louis Cardinals, takes no great credit to this feat of displacing Babe Ruth as the home run slugger of the universe.

When asked if he believed he would again show the way to the matter of home runs to Ruth he replied:

"Never had a thought that I would be the home run king at the start of the 1922 campaign. It just happened. I was no better hitter last year than I was five years ago. Neither have I changed my style at bat.

"I just cut away at the ball in my usual manner, but I have been traveled much farther. The ball is much livelier than it was during last season because I hit them in the same old way.

"Home runs mean nothing to Hornsby. He says a clean single pleases him more than a long poke that fade into a short stand for flake home run.

"Hornsby wants to lead the National League in hitting again, as a matter of fact, he would like to shine at some of the records held by Cobb and Wagner.

"He also would like to take part in a world series before he quits, either as a big leaguer, or in America. He has a [illegible] there in 1923.

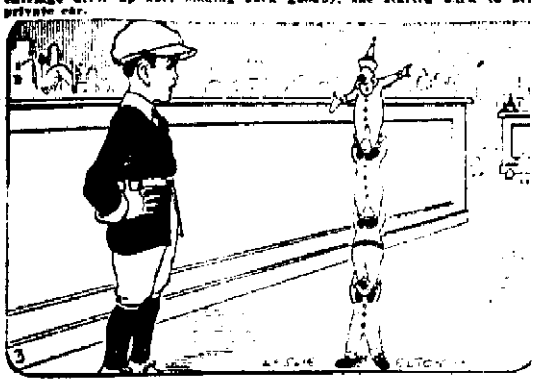
After looking them all over the doll queen finally decided that the little duck doll buggy was entitled to first prize. This carriage was wheeled close to her little throne and the queen handed the little doll baby a beautiful new dress and bonnett packed in a very neat little box.

Every other baby doll was given some sort of a prize so that none of them went away feeling bad. Jack told the queen that this was a bright idea as he disliked to see even little dolls sorrowful. Then the queen's carriage drew up and, bidding Jack goodby, she started back to her private car.



Shortly after the queen had left a band of clowns walked up to Jack and one of them said, "Would you like to see a great surprise box?" "I should say I would," replied Jack, and he was then told to follow the clowns. As they jogged along Jack wondered what was in store for him. (Continued.)
